METHODIST MINISTERS

Spend a Full Week as the Guests of the Citizens of Barbourville.

Reception and Banquet Given Thursday Night, by Citizens in Honor of Visiting Ministers Largely Attended and Enjoyed.

ASSIGNMENT OF PREACHERS BY THE SHOP.

DR. JOHN D. HITCHCOCK.

Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Barbourville, Ky.

Dr. Hitchcock was assigned to the Barbourville work last year and moved here with his estimable family from Covington, where he had served one year.

He has only been in the Kentucky Conference two years, having come by transfer from the Kansas Conference two years ago.

He is recognized as one among the ablest preachers in the Kentucky Conference, and is an orator second to none in the State.

His first year's work which closed last Sunday night was a remarkably successful one, and the people of Barbourville were unanimous in asking for his return for another year.

During the past year under his leadership the class here has been strengthened and built up more than in any preceding year since the church was organized here in 1865.

It is with delight that the citizen learn that he is to remain another year as he has by his kindness and solicitude won the respect and admiration of every one.

We wish for him in the new year upon which he is just starting even greater results than have been enjoyed in the year that has just closed.

We all welcome him and his family for another year in our city and wish for them the very best results that it is possible to attain both in the Church and the social circle, and promise our assistance in making his return a success.

The Eighty-second session of the Kentucky Conference closed last night and the preachers now return to begin the work of a new year. Some to the same fields in which they have labored for the past year, while others go to new fields and meet new faces but all go out with a determination to do the work of the Master.

The session throughout has been one of interest and pleasure to the citizens, as well as the ministers, and we believe we but bid the sentiment of all when we say, we are glad they came among us.

The business sessions have been well attended, and much important work has been done.

Several very able sermons and lectures have been heard during the week, and taking all in all the meeting has been of unusual pleasure to Barbourville.

On last Thursday night the citizens of Barbourville gave to the ministers a reception and banquet at Union College that was a very pleasant affair and greatly enjoyed by all.

At eight o'clock the receiving line was formed in the chapel headed by Dr. J. R. Howes, the District Superintendent of the Lexington district, and Mayor Robt. W. Cole, of this city with a number of the citizens of our city and the young ladies of the College, while the ministers were ushered in and passed down the line to receive the hand of welcome.

When the orchestra struck up "Yankee Doodle" everybody including the preachers caught the life of the music and were putting hands to the music which brought forth a round of applause.

The Kentucky conference has been meeting in our State for the past eighty odd years but this was the first time in its history, (so the older members inform us) that they have ever been so royally banqueted as they were by the good people of Barbourville.

On Sunday morning Bishop Moore preached at 11 o'clock at Union College Chapel to a packed house, and at night all the pulpits in town were filled by Methodist ministers.

of Education pronounced the invocation, after which all were seated around the tables.

A delightful four course banquet was served by the young men of the College while the three hundred present ate and listened to the flow of oratory, and the sweet strains of music furnished by Baker's Orchestra of this city.

Judge F. D. Sampson acted as toastmaster, and presided in an excellent and dignified manner. The address of Welcome was delivered by Hon. J. M. Robison, of the Barbourville bar, and was full of wit and good.

The next speaker was the Rev. J. I. Wean, of Ashland, who responded to the toast "The Ministry and Education." He is a splendid orator and made a good impression upon his hearers.

The next speaker was the Rev. George V. Morris, of Lexington, who responded to the toast "The Ministry and Education." He made a pleasing and interesting address.

Judge James D. Black, of the Barbourville bar, was the next speaker, and his subject was "We Need Your Help." He made a strong and forceful address and we hope it had a lasting effect upon the minds of the hearers.

Bishop D. H. Moore, of Cincinnati, was the next speaker, and the subject assigned to him was "Kentucky Methodism and Union College." He made a splendid talk which captivated his hearers with his wit and his logic.

The last speaker was Hon. C. B. Nordeman, of Louisville, whose subject was "Our Duty to Union College." His address was the most witty and amusing of any and he succeeded in driving home some very important facts while the audience cheered him many times during his remarks.

When the orchestra struck up "Yankee Doodle" everybody including the preachers caught the life of the music and were putting hands to the music which brought forth a round of applause.

This morning at 8:30 Conference convened for the closing service of this session and after all the matter had been disposed of.

SHERIFF DAN H. WILLIAMS

Shot and Killed Steve Owens of Elys Sunday Night

Acted in Self-defense While Discharging Official Duty

Dan H. Williams, Sheriff of Knox county, was forced to shoot Steve Owens at Elys Station, last Sunday night about 9 o'clock and Owens died about 12 hours later from the wounds.

The story of the shooting and what led up to it as we gather it is about as follows:

A warrant for the arrest of a man named Will Green, charged with killing a man named Shelton, some months ago, had been placed in the hands of Sheriff Williams. Green having been previously indicted by the Grand Jury of Knox county.

Williams had information that Green was at Elys mines, in the southeastern part of the county, took John A. Bowman, as a special deputy, with him Sunday evening and went to the mines where they found and arrested Green, and took him to the station to await the midnight train for this city.

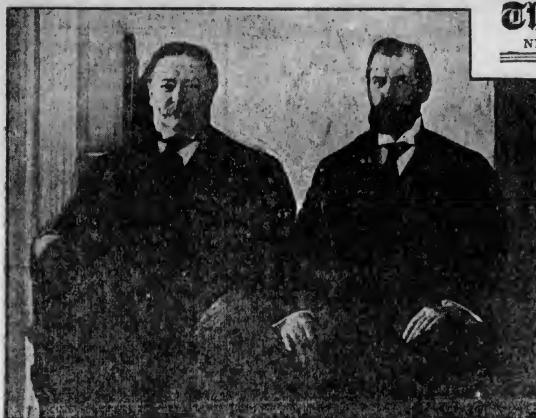

While waiting there Charles Harris, a pal of Green, came up somewhat intoxicated with a pistol in his hand and approached Sheriff Williams, who asked him what he was doing with that "gun." Harris began to curse him and immediately drew the pistol on Williams, who instantly grabbed hold of it and tried to twist it from his hand, Harris held on until Williams drew his own pistol with the other hand threatened to shoot if he did not let go. Harris released his hold and Sheriff Williams put the Harris pistol in his pocket.

Just at this time Steve Owens came up with a shotgun in his hand, and Harris said to him that Williams had taken his pistol from him and instantly Owens cocked his gun and leveled it upon Sheriff Williams, who, quick as thought, grabbed the muzzle of the gun with one hand and as he did so Harris grabbed him, breaking his hold on the gun, Owens then struck him over the head with the gun and he believing they were attempting to kill him, began shooting, three shots taking effect in Owens' body.

Bowman, who accompanied him came to his rescue and drew his pistol and would have killed Harris but for the fact that his pistol failed to fire.

Sheriff Williams returned to this city with his prisoner and placed him in jail Sunday night and then surrendered to the county Judge who released him upon his own recognizance.

VETERAN AND ENDHOLDER

Interest Saved by a Reduction in the Rates on Public Debt a Generous Government's Gift to the Old Soldier.

One of the most striking facts in the history of the Republican party is its generosity to the men who have fought the battles of the Republic on land and sea. When the Civil War ended in 1865 the country was loaded down with a debt of about $2,350,000,000, upon which interest payments were about $78,000,000. At that time the country had a population of about 35,000,000, or considerably less than half the population to-day. The new debt of the country is now in much smaller ratio to population than the present wealth of the country, because of the tremendous increase in wealth of the country. The hand of man and hand which has come from the development of labor-saving machinery.

Notwithstanding these facts one of the first cares of Republican legislation was to provide adequate pensions for the men who had fought the battles of the Union. The pensions were then young, some of them almost boys, and secured the necessary aid of all from any one in caring for the men. The men who had received disabilities or wounds in the service were naturally cared for in the beginning, and as time went on men who had been disabled in the survivors of mature years and the widows of those who had gone to the grave from the disabilities received in the service were also provided for. Hence as was the burden of the public debt the interest was honorably paid in gold, and was possible to reduce the rate from time to time as the result of the enhanced credit of the country under Republican rule. By a sort of natural law of evolution the debt for government and the veteran grew in proportion to the bondholder, the growth less with the redemption of the debt and the reduction of the rate of interest, but the result has been that since doing for dollar, as the charges for the debt have fallen, generosity to the veteran has grown. At last to the credit of the country for the veterans and their widows has been granted a service pension adequate to stave off actual want in their declining days, and the charges for interest on the debt and for pensions have commenced for representative years at intervals of ten years as indicated by the following table:

Year. Interest on Debt, Pensions, 1867-$143,781,591.551 1907. 197,124,511.58 27,962,752 27 1868. 143,781,591.551 1908. 197,124,511.58 27,962,752 27 1869. 143,781,591.551 1909. 24,451,158.34 141,053,164.23 1907. 37,701,110.43 141,053,164.23 1908. 24,451,158.34 139,309,514.31

Thus, what has been taken from the bondholders is reducing the revenue which fought the battles of the Civil and Spanish wars.

NO DOUBT ABOUT LA FOLLETTE

(Milwaukee Journal.)

Some of the Eastern papers are supplying their readers with a deal of misinformation about the political situation in Wisconsin. Our writer at the American in the city, however, the Senatorial primary is the only one that La Follette, expresses doubt as to whether he will take any part in the same. He says that he has learned that the result in Wisconsin "is constrained to show the dependence of La Follette and La Follette." A Wisconsin newspaper, however, declares that the La Follette supporters are reuniting to prevent the election of Stephen, "by making the Legislature interfere."

Nonetheless! Senator La Follette is a party man through and through. He always has been and is likely to continue to be so far as the public is concerned. It is no secret that La Follette has a high opinion of him, and is for him in a wholehearted manner.

It is fortunate for Mr. Bryan as well as for us that he was defeated, and whatever may be his present position, he is a capable, competent man. He failed to understand the law, who was intent to correct evil, who was anxious to do justice, and who would bring together those who proper business and that which is important, and by an arbitrary rule proceed to do it. All the time you formulate the line of reason and inevitably come to grief.

"What we need in this country is a few men of intelligence, probity, and energy, and the conservation of honest business endeavor. And if you were to search the country throughout, you would find no one better suited to the fact that hitherto he has not been permitted to carry out his program—Governor Hughes at Youngstown, Ohio.

In a Chicago speech Samuel Gompers advised labor to maintain its rights at the polls. If Gompers really meant what he said, he is not helping Bryan.

PLAYING TO THE GALLERY.

MR. TAFT AT COOPER UNION.

Arthur Brisbane Studies the Republican Candidate at Close Range and Draws an Attractive Word-Picture.

Arthur Brisbane, editor of William H. Hearst's Evening Journal, in New York, went to Cooper Union last winter to have a talk with the workingmen of New York City. Mr. Brisbane was anxious to study Mr. Taft's close range, and had seen him, but had enjoyed his pen occasionally in criticism of things that Mr. Taft had done. After listening to Mr. Taft and analyzing his impressions, Mr. Brisbane wrote the following editorial in the Evening Journal:

"Mr. Taft is the kind of man you would expect to find in the president's office. He is a man of talents, of astuteness and his attitude of deep responsibility have impressed the country. That is what is wanted to give confidence in a period of doubt and depression."

The campaign has reached a point where it is being more and more a family affair over the country. Every Presidential campaign has its special characteristics and the contest of 1908 is marked by its sober discussion and the modest movement of the great current. The campaign is more serious, more decided to the great issues now opening, handled with care, consideration and a judicial scrupulosity.

No personal charges are made. No campaign orators are allowed on either side. There is an absence of the rant, the talk and the attacks on the "money power" heard in other years. The gravity of the situation is seen and the responsibility of the National delegation appreciated. The matter is being argued rather than agitated. —Philadelphia Press.

GUARANTY OF BANK DEPOSITS.

Mr. Taft landed a deaf blow upon Mr. Bryan's pet scheme for the guarantee of bank deposits when he pointed out that the plan had been tried and found wanting in New York from 1829 to 1842.

The conservative financial thought of the country has been from the first that the Bryan idea is an infallible invitation to reckless banking through its removal of the proper rewards for safe and sane methods.

To this assertion the Democratic party has never given a direct answer, but the Bryanites have failed to meet the issue by contenting himself with the statement that all restrictions on "banking are a tax on the honest banker."

Mr. Bryan's plan was to prevent around the country the "banking of the rich."

Miss Mary Gibson, of Cannon, came down Friday to attend Conference. She was the guest of the Misses Catron while here.

R. B. McDonald has returned from the State of Washington, where he has been for the past three years as a soldier in the service of Uncle Sam.

A. A. Hopper, of Hopper, was a pleasant caller at this office Tuesday, and handed us a check for another year's subscription for which we extend thanks.

C. W. Clark and wife left last Monday morning for Georgetown to visit his brother, Thomas B. Clark, after spending a week with his nephew, D. W. Clark, and attending Conference.

Mr. L. M. Cole and Mrs. Sarah E. Hughes have returned from Covington bringing with them honor of Mrs. Hughes being elected to Grand officer in the Daughters Rebekah. This puts her in line for promotion, the highest in the order.

LOCAL LOOM.

Last Monday was county court day, a small crowd was in town.

Dr. Westerfield has begun to erect his new brick residence on Sycamore street.

L. M. Cole has broken ground for the erection of a new cottage on Pitzer street.

Judge F. D. Sampson is preparing to erect a new residence on his lot just opposite his residence.

The new hotel will be ready to receive the roof next week as the walls are now almost completed.

W. W. Tinsley is giving his residence a new coat of paint which will help the appearance very much.

The old stucco on the courthouse has about all been removed and the new coat will be put on at once.

There are a few old roosters left in town but they kept very quiet last week while the preachers were in town.

All the church in town were occupied last Sunday night by Methodist preachers who delivered splendid sermons.

New fall bonnets will appear now as the millinery openings are on, and incidentally, man's bank account will disappear.

A splendid rain visited this section last Monday, followed by a cold wave and fires have been in demand most of the week.

Rev. T. M. Myers gave a talk in the chapel at Union College Wednesday morning that was appreciated by the entire school.

The Water Works Company have laid the eight inch main from the public square to the railroad on Knox Street and will extend the work as rapidly as possible.

Wonderful Meeting.

Rev. D. W. Brown closed a revival meeting in the Booneville charge leaving one month which resulted in over three hundred additions to the church and all of them were converted, all were baptized, two hundred and seventy-five in the Kentucky river. Brother Brown was sent there as supply by the District Superintendent after the close of school at Union College in June, where he had been a student for the past three years. He was sent by the Bishop as pastor to this charge for the next year.

Revival Services.

Last Sunday night a series of revival services was begun at the Christian church in this city, conducted by Rev. T. M. Myers, of Kansas City, Mo., formerly pastor of the church here. Large audiences have been in attendance every night and special singing has been furnished by Miss Mabel Myers, of Louisville.

The services will continue over next Sunday, and we can not say how much longer.

DR. T. B. STRATTON

Appointed District Superintendent to Succeed Dr. J. R. Howes.

The many friends of Dr. T. B. Stratton, in Barbourville, where he labored so earnestly and so faithfully for three years will be glad to learn of his promotion to the position of District Superintendent of the Lexington district.

Dr. Stratton is an earnest and forcible preacher and we are glad to note his promotion and wish for him great success throughout the entire district.

Dr. Howes Retired From District.

It is with a feeling of sorrow that we announce the retirement of Dr. J. R. Howes from the District where he has served so faithfully for the past four years.

He has labored untiringly and unceasingly to build up the church throughout his district and his labors have not been in vain.

Not only do we regret to lose Dr. Howes as our District Superintendent, but we regret to lose him and his estimable family from our town.

His oldest daughter, Miss Grace, has been the mainstay in the Sunday School and the Epworth League, and her services are almost indispensable in the church here, and we fear it will be a difficult task to find some one to take her place.

We bid them God speed in their new home and new work and wish for them unbounded success and rich reward for their labors.

Conference Pickups.

Rev. S. F. Kelley established a reputation as a debater.

Mrs. J. G. Ragan was with her husband attending Conference.

Rev. S. F. Ramey and Dr. J. W. Zimmerman were among the old patriarchs in attendance.

Some of our citizens were disappointed by their guests failing to come to attend Conference.

There were more than one hundred Methodist ministers in town to attend the Annual Conference.

Mrs. G. N. Jolly accompanied her husband and was a regular visitor on the floor of the Conference.

Mrs. Delia L. Williams delivered a forceful address on Home Missionary work Wednesday afternoon.

We all feel the better by having enjoyed the Conference, and hope to have it with us some other time.

The Evangelistic sermon of Rev. G. W. Banton, on Friday afternoon was enjoyed by a large attendance.

Rev. P. H. Ebright was given the superannuated relation with the conference at the session just closed.

Rev. John Cheap, the blind preacher, was a regular attendant at all the sessions of the Conference.

The preachers comment upon the great improvements in Barbourville since they were here four years ago.

Quite a number of the preachers paid the Mountain Advocate a call while in the city. They are always welcome visitors.

Rev. O. S. Bakel delivered a splendid address Wednesday evening on Sunday Schools that was enjoyed by a large congregation.

Rev. C. K. Dickey, pastor of the Southern Methodist church of Middlesboro, was in attendance at the Conference here Saturday.

Dr. G. N. Jolly was quite ill during a part of the Conference session and unable to be at his post of duty as the Conference Secretary.

Every one we have talked with thinks they have had the finest fellows in the conference as their guests, the facts are, they are all fine fellows.

Hon. R. T. Miller, of Covington, was unable to attend the Conference this year and his presence was greatly missed by his many friends.

The invitation was extended by Barbourville to hold the next session of the Conference here. Our people enjoy having the preachers with us.

Bishop Moore, almost convinced that his large audience Friday night that he was a Kentuckian, by the way he spoke of the Kentucky horses in his address.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

Pleasant Evening Reveries.—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.—Crude Thoughts from the Editorial Pen.

The French say it requires the presence of three generations to make a perfect home, and we are glad to see that the grandmother is becoming more highly appreciated in this country, as she no longer confines herself to the chimney corner and her knitting, but takes a kindly interest in all that goes on; keeps mind and body disciplined study by and active, usefulness participation in what is going on around her, and is careful of her appearance as when she was a young girl.

GRANDMA ON MATRIMONY.

Matrimony is not wholly a failure or success. It is not a failure for the masculine member of the contracting party, if the feminine side of the house will stay at home enough to attend her household duties. In nine cases out of ten it used to be he married a woman a great deal too good for him; he has (I speak of the lot of the great majority of women) gained a housekeeper, cook, seamstress, laundress, and later in married life a nurse and governess; he has gained a deferential listener, and firm believer in all he does and says, for of course a wife has implicit confidence in her husband; he has gained a valuable waiter, something which he needs, for early in married life he develops helplessness in a remarkable degree; he can never find anything, even after his wife has described the exact location of the desired article, neither can he put on a collar or necktie without her assistance. "Goodness only knows" how he did it before marriage. For all this he expects to give and she to receive board and clothes—not sealskin cloaks, fifteen dollar hats and other paraphernalia usually found on the woman of today.

She has lost her freedom and her name, she has to work twice as hard as in her girlhood, even if she then earned her own living. Then she always had money of her own to spend as she pleased; now, in addition to home duties, she many times works for others—it is so nice to have a little money for my very own," she says. Of course, she does not do anything at home to entitle her to a part of her husband's earnings—her "very own."

By the time she has been married ten years she looks ten years older than her sister who is only two years her junior, and her husband is usually the first to remark it, but of course he is not to blame.

A HOME DAY.

God intended that there should be one day each week as an especial day for the culture of home ties. A day when the father would be home from work, and the children home from school, and the mother have less of household care, when all could put on their best clothes, sing their sweetest songs, and enjoy a day of love. The Sabbath should never be made a day of labor in the home. The work of each home should be so arranged that it can be done almost entirely in six days and as evenly as possible in each day. "Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work."

The baking and cooking can be done on Saturday, and Sunday can be made almost entirely a day for warming over the food prepared before. We fear many good housewives make a serious mistake in giving too much time to Sunday cooking. Others perhaps are equally in error by overworking on Saturday, so that they cannot properly rest or enjoy the Sabbath day. Parents and children ought to be more to each other on that day than on any other. A day of uplift and delight is ought to be made in every home.

Pleasant Social.

A very pleasant social was given Wednesday evening at the Methodist church in honor of Dr. J. R. Howes and family, who are to take their departure at once for their new home in Oddville, Harrison county.

Quite a number of the friends of the family were gathered together and an hour was spent very pleasantly. Miss Gertrude Black and Miss Ida Hitchcock presided over the bowl of delightful fruit punch. Miss Ruth Decker recited a declamation. Miss Lena Wilson sang a duet. Dr. Hitchcock played and sang a duet. Prof. Throop gave a very touching talk, concerning Dr. Howes, and his acquaintance with them.

The evening was pleasantly spent as I closed by singing, "God be with you till we meet again."

Judge Black to Speak.

MILLER BROTHERS

ERS

101 Ranch Wild West Show Delights Many Spectators.

Miller Brothers Wild West Show appeared here last Thursday and gave an exhibition before a large audience.

This is the first time this great show has ever visited this section but we feel confident that a return visit would draw even a larger crowd, as every one was highly pleased with the entire performance.

A large troupe of real Indians accompanied this show and gave many interesting and attractive performances.

The cow girls were remarkably clever in their performances and horse-womanship.

One of the most interesting sights of the entire program was the eight couple quadrille on horseback, dancing to the music the band was indeed a pretty sight, and made many of those present think of the days gone by.

Another pretty feature of the big show is, that the proprietors are Kentuckians, born and raised near Crab Orchard, and it is with pleasure and pride that Kentuckians give them a royal welcome.

Mrs. Miller, the mother of the proprietors of 101 Ranch, accompanied the show here. She is an exceedingly handsome and sweet old lady, and was the recipient of many compliments while here.

It is hoped that 101 Ranch will come again and when it does it will be received with open arms by the largest crowd that ever assembled in Barbourville.

Served Him Right.

"Married men have no right to flirt," observed a man who had just arrived from a first-class summer resort. "They deserve all the misfortune that can befall them when they start making goo-goo eyes at women other than their wives," he said. He then told the following story of a Louisville man who, with his wife, arrived at the hotel where the speaker was staying.

The Louisville man had hardly arrived when he set out in search of the "boys" and started in to have a good time. "Do you know any good-looking girls around this place," he asked of his companions.

"I know a few, but some of them are married," answered the spokesman of the party.

"Oh, that don't make no difference," said the Louisville man.

"All right then," answered his friends. "Come out on the balcony, here are a couple that we were introduced to last evening."

The Louisville man looked and in a moment drew back in horror.

"No," he answered emphatically, "I have already been introduced to my wife and sister-in-law."
